

Is There Life After Death

Is there life after death? If there is how Physics does explain it. Here is my take. Covid and my stroke gave me lots of time to reflect. First fact information cannot be destroyed basic tenet of quantum mechanics See Leonard Susskind book "The black Hole Wars" if you really want to understand the argument. The fact you and anybody existed is information stored by the universe forever. Second fact information cannot travel faster than the speed of light. If you were to die information of your death would not reach a distance observer. Until the requisite time has passed are you really dead in the ensuing interval.